

MILITARY MISSIONS

To know Christ and to make Him known.

WE DID IT!

At the beginning of this year, I quit my part-time job in order to devote my full attention to leading the Soldiers ministry here at Fort Lewis, WA.

As missionaries to Fort Lewis, our primary focus is to reach service men and women (as well as their families) and build them up in Christ.

The hallmarks of our ministry are small-group studies and life-on-life mentoring relationships focused on discipleship.

We are passionate about helping others get into the Word of God, apply Scripture to their lives, develop a deepening prayer life, and ultimately trust God as they look to His Word (the Bible) to chart the course of their lives.

HIT THE GROUND RUNNING!

It has been such an amazing journey so far, as Liz and I trust in God in leading this ministry! After being here for almost a year, we are preparing to say good bye to our tiny apartment and build a new home near the Army base. Although grabbing lunches with these guys for one-to-one time is my passion, I also get excited about the leader development occurring during our Sunday night leaders' study. Liz really enjoys meeting regularly with another young mother and creating new opportunities to bring the women together for fellowship and more exposure of God's Word. Needless to say, we are both looking forward to doing more of these kinds of things out of our new home.

GROWING LIKE WEEDS

Kiah (2 yrs.) has been adjusting very well, as there are many little boys here for him to play with. I'm amazed at how diligent he is to name each one during his bedtime prayers; even Hannah, his babysitter, gets a nightly shout-out.

Josiah (8 mos.) is such a happy little boy, and very observant too; he always has an eye on his big brother!
